

Prophecies, Archdiocese Prayer Meeting May 30, 2010 Trinity Sunday
St Ambrose Church, Baltimore

I chose to die alone so that you would never be alone.
I am closer to you than
the air you breathe.
I am closer to you than you are to yourself

Into each heart I have poured a portion of my Spirit.
Into each heart I have poured a portion of my love.
Be open and surrender to my call.
Be open to my gifts, open to my will.

My children, My people, I call you today to be My workers in the vineyard. So many are hurting, in need of knowing My love and compassion. Be My hands and feet. Spread My Word, My love, My peace. You are My light in a darkened world. DO not refuse My gifts, My people. Know My love and share it always. Know My peace and spread this peace to your own parts of the world. Go forth and share all the gifts I have given you.

Little ones, you are still troubled by so many things, but only one thing is necessary – that you
surrender yourselves
fully, completely,
totally to My love.

Once you have done
that, once you have opened your hearts
and allowed My love
to fill you,

once you have given
yourselves
permission to be loved by Me, then
you will truly know that all is well.

I am eager to renew the hearts of the people of this city, to give them hope for better days, to set them free. The struggle before you is not against men but against the forces of evil that hold my people captive. Take a sober look around you and what do you see? The prince of darkness rules much of this city and in your own might you are powerless against him. When I am lifted up, evil will flee and I will draw all men to myself. Take courage my people and do not be afraid to lift me up and show me to this city. Take courage my people and pray fervently for one among you willing to lead a Eucharistic procession. Take courage my people and follow me, and I will lead you in renewing this city block by block.

You are my people, my chosen people. I have purpose for you, purposeful work. Rejoice that you need not be idle. I have work for you, good work, important work – you are my hands and my feet. Be my hands and my feet. I have called you; I have called you forth into the world to love as I love, to care as I care, to serve as I serve.

My love changes things, my love changes people. My love will bring about transformation—but you must love with your whole heart, mind and soul – with all of your being. Love must be your purpose – to love. This must be your purpose. If you want change, if you want to make a difference – love must be your aim. My love is transforming, and I will give you this love. Sit with me – dwell with me, immerse yourself in my Word. Be firmly rooted in me and make love your aim.
